WHAT: The California Fire Safe Council (CFSC), California's leader in community resiliency and community wildfire risk reduction, is hosting an official press conference during Wildfire Awareness Week on May 5, the Big Day of Giving, in Sacramento. Following California's driest 1st quarter ever recorded, the organization will be presenting its key pillars to support and protect residents and their communities across California this wildfire season: People, Projects, and Places. In a year when mitigation efforts will be more critical than ever, California Fire Safe Council has committed more than $9.8M for multiple grant funding projects and programs to increase community wildfire risk reduction and resiliency.

During the California Fire Safe Council conference, the organization will outline its critical programs for 2022, which include a first of its kind statewide program dedicated to creating a county-level wildfire prevention program. The program will be led by newly hired Fire Safe County Coordinators in 24 counties. Later this year, through funding from California Climate Investments, in partnership with the Regional Forest and Fire Capacity Grant Program, the CFSC will be offering capacity building grants to eligible non-profit organizations throughout the state to help with staffing, outreach and other needs that will assist groups on the ground. In addition, a total of over $3M in grant funding will be dedicated to evacuation route creation, planning, and maintenance under the 2021/2022 Wildfire Evacuation

Route Planning and Development Grant Program. A new Defensible Space Assistance Program will also commit $3M toward defensible space treatments for low-income, senior and disadvantaged communities in high-risk zones across the state. HELPFUL TIPS: It's #WildfireAwarenessWeek! Are you ready?

- ✓ Get Alerts.
- ✓ Make a plan.
- ✓ Pack your go-bag.
- ✓ Build a stay box.
- ✓ Help others

Home preparedness is critical. Residents are encouraged to remove dry and flammable vegetation within 5 feet of home structures, including branches, weeds, dead grasses, and more, to help eliminate sparks reaching your home. It's also beneficial to eliminate vegetation limbs and small trees from around ground-level porches and decks. Creating defensible space around homes will improve the chance of residents and their homes surviving a fire.
