

2023 SANTA BARBARA TREX

INDIGENOUS STIPEND PROGRAM

UCSB SEDGWICK RESERVE

SATURDAY, NOV 11- SATURDAY, NOV 18, 2023

Indigenous burning practices are integral to sustainable land stewardship. Therefore, a goal of the Santa Barbara TREX is to support Indigenous people, fire practices, and burning objectives to the greatest extent possible, including removing barriers for participation in the week-long intensive training event. When applying to the SB TREX, Indigenous applicants will have the opportunity to request financial support through the Indigenous Stipend Program. Up to $2853 is available per person to cover costs such as time spent completing pre-event required coursework, travel time, travel costs, and time away from family and work responsibilities.

To apply for the Indigenous Stipend Program, fill out the full SB TREX application. Towards the bottom of that application, there will be additional prompts to apply for the stipend itself. Please don't hesitate to reach out with questions. You can email the 2023 SB TREX burn boss, Sarah Gibson, at sarah.gibson@tnc.org.
